

Zhukov's Fate Still Mystery

Turkish Ruling Party Apparent Election Victor

Shift Suggests More Kremlin Changes Afoot

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The air of mystery about the future of replaced defense minister Marshal Georgi Zhukov suggests more changes in the Kremlin are imminent.

Western diplomats with pipelines to Moscow said Nikita Khrushchev appears to be taking a bold gamble to tighten his grip as Soviet strongman by shoving aside his toughest remaining potential rival for power.

The curtness of the Tass announcement that the 61-year-old Zhukov had been "relieved" as the Soviet defense chief tended to downgrade him.

The Russians generally say "relieved" for other duties "when another job is pending—but didn't in this case."

The Austrian Communist party newspaper Volksstimme said in a Moscow-dated dispatch that Zhukov "will take over an important new post." The same dispatch significantly said he had been "re-moved" as defense minister.

One well-qualified expert on Soviet maneuvering said there seemed a possibility Khrushchev might give Zhukov a face-saving promotion rather than risk an open show of strength with the popular World War II hero.

"But," said this expert, "I doubt it will be the premiership."

There have been rumors that Premier Nikolai Bulganin might be kicked upstairs to the Soviet presidency held by aging marshal Klementi Voroshilov.

Sir David Kelly, retired British diplomat who served as ambassador to Moscow in 1949-1951, told the Sunday Times:

"Even if Marshal Zhukov is not in complete disgrace, his removal from the military command is a most serious step for Khrushchev to have taken."

Sir David suggested a possible clash between Khrushchev and Zhukov over foreign policy.

"Clearly any trouble must have arisen very recently and bearing in mind Marshal Zhukov's predominant military interests, it is highly probable that it is connected with Mr. Khrushchev's recent saber-rattling activities, especially in the Caucasus."

U.S. To Send Sputnik Data To Russians

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 27 (AP)—Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory officials said tonight results of their computations of the orbit of Sputnik's rocket will be transmitted to Russia tonight.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, head of the United States' satellite optical tracking program, said the data will be telegraphed to the Russian Academy of Science in Moscow.

Hynek added that the observatory will also transmit to Russia calculations of the orbit of Sputnik itself that were made by the Naval Research Laboratory. He said the immediate decision to send the information was made by the U.S. Committee of the International Geophysical Year.

U.S. Puzzled By Shakeup, Seeks Facts

Officials Striving To Evaluate Move From Policy Angle

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eisenhower administration leaders eagerly sought all possible facts today on the Zhukov shakeup, aware that the sensational mystery may be profoundly significant in evaluating Soviet power and foreign policy.

Available information was interpreted as indicating that Marshal Zhukov has probably been downgraded instead of being headed toward a new promotion. But the evidence is by no means conclusive and official Washington still would not be very surprised if Zhukov turned up as premier.

Dulles Kept Advised

Secretary Dulles ordered the State Department's weekend duty officers to keep him closely advised of any developments in the case. Several dispatches were received from U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow, recording yesterday's official announcement of Zhukov's replacement as defense minister and all the diplomatic speculation in Moscow about what this meant.

Dulles presumably has in touch with President Eisenhower whose World War II acquaintance with Zhukov, plus later correspondence with him created a basis for personal as well as official interest. The President last saw Zhukov at the 1955 Geneva summit conference which Zhukov attended with Soviet party boss Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin.

Zhukov Away On Trip

Twenty-four hours after the Moscow broadcast the news that Georgi Zhukov had been replaced as defense minister by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, best-informed officials here said there was still no way to judge whether Zhukov was on the way up, on the way out, or just being quietly shelved.

U.S. officials apparently were most impressed by the evidence that Khrushchev acted while Zhukov was away on a trip to Yugoslavia and Albania. The announcement of his removal was made just before he was reported back in Moscow. And there was no reference to other duties for him.

Northeast Given Winter Preview

[By The Associated Press]

A preview of winter developed Sunday in northeastern United States where rains moved northward into colder air, but the Great Plains warmed under sunny skies.

More than a foot of snow fell in the Cleveland area by mid-afternoon and it was still snowing hard. Persisting snow fell in parts of western New York and western Pennsylvania, with overnight accumulations expected to range from one to four inches.

New England was in for rain and snow, and the Weather Bureau said snow flurries may extend south into the mountains of North Carolina.

At Cleveland the seven inch fall on Cranwood Race Course forced the postponement of Monday's horse racing there, and a thunderstorm contributed another incongruous facet to the weather picture. Wind gusts of more than 30 miles an hour chilled the section below Lake Erie.

Light snow on the Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes contributed to several accidents. Six persons were hurt in a turnpike crash north of Pittsburgh.

Pope Pius Opens Vatican's Powerful New Radio Voice

SANTA MARIA DE GALERIA, Italy, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pope Pius XII made the longest trip of his pontificate today to bless and inaugurate the Vatican's new radio station—a complex of steel towers and equipment powerful enough to carry his voice easily to all parts of the world.

In the station's first broadcast message, the 81-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church exhorted the world to use "the marvelous discoveries of our times" for the spiritual improvement and not for the ruin of man.

Cardinals, archbishops, bishops and the entire diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican listened as the pontiff read his message in Latin. Powerful broadcasting transmitters, for which Catholics throughout the world contributed funds, surrounded him. The station was built at a cost of about 2½ million dollars. Twenty-six years ago the Pope

Sputnik's Influence On Halloween

The finishing touches to a huge Halloween mask, influenced of course by the Russian earth satellite, the sputnik, are added by 10-year-old Bruce Ingraham, a Levittown, Pa., Cub Scout who raided his dad's workshop and latched on to a surplus weather balloon, parts of pop's leftover war gas mask and other items which were lying around.

Adventurer Spotted Adrift In Small Boat

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 27 (AP)—Melvin West, a 28-year-old disk jockey from Jacksonville, N. C., trying to drive a 15-foot motorboat from North Carolina to Bermuda, was spotted today, 165 miles west northwest of this island. He was out of gas, adrift in rough seas, but all right.

He left Morehead City, N. C., Oct. 17 in his 30 horsepower craft, "The Impossible." Since then he had been spotted only once, up to today. A freighter gave him fresh provisions about 200 miles east of Cape Lookout, N. C., last Monday and he went on.

A Coast Guard plane on a "training flight" found him this morning. West stood in his boat and waved. The plane dropped him a short wave radio, emergency rations and a kit containing flares and dye markers.

He used the radio to say he was out of gas, but in good condition. He asked for more gas so he could continue, but the Coast Guard, not pleased with West's stunt and the trouble he has put it to, declined. The cutter Rockaway was dispatched to pick him up and was expected to reach him about 10 p.m.

The Coast Guard said it spent about $300,000 in its first search for West last week. The 5th U.S. Coast Guard District in Norfolk, Va., ordered West kept under air surveillance until the cutter Rockaway reaches him.

The sun was shining brightly and the winds were about 25 m.p.h. when the first plane spotted him at 9:22 a.m. After making the air drop, the plane returned to Bermuda and a PBM was ordered to proceed to West's position and circle until the arrival of the Rockaway. The plane had additional flares to keep West in sight after dark.

Light snow on the Ohio and Pennsylvania turnpikes contributed to several accidents. Six persons were hurt in a turnpike crash north of Pittsburgh.

Macmillan Opposes Big Power Meeting

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan cold-shouldered today Soviet suggestions for summit talks of all the big powers.

Returning from a Washington conference with President Eisenhower, Macmillan indicated he did not think conditions were favorable for high-level talks with the Russians.

"I have been to two of these meetings in Geneva with great hopes," Macmillan told newsmen at London Airport. "But unless the situation is good and there is some hope of getting real agreement, the result of a failure would be more dangerous than a partial success. I am not in favor of such meetings when there is some danger of their not being successful."

Jap Strike Extended

TOKYO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Thousands of tons of merchandise destined for Christmas shoppers in the United States piled up in Japanese ports today as crews of ocean-going vessels decided to extend to a full week their 48-hour strike for higher wages.

Trapped Desperado Meekly Surrenders After Wild Rampage

LAVA HOT SPRINGS, Idaho, Oct. 27 (AP)—A trapped gunman who suddenly turned tame placed a transcontinental telephone call to his mother and then gave up to police today, after a wild rampage across Idaho and Montana.

Willard Arthur Brown, 23, talked to his mother, Mrs. Dorothy Wilczek in Jamestown, N.Y. Then he walked into a drizzle outside an isolated ranchhouse, where he had held a grandfather and three young children as hostages. He put his 30-30 rifle down on the muddy ground and surrendered.

Nearly a dozen police cars converged on Brown as he stepped back from his unfired weapon. Brown told police "I fully intended not to be taken alive until I talked with my mother. I meant it."

Brown also released the three children before he gave up. They were Janet 7, Clair, 5, and Stuart 1, children of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Maughan. The parents had been at church in Lava Hot Springs when Brown appeared.

But Brown's tameness came 24 hours after he had escaped from the Montana State Prison at Deer Lodge. He had stolen at least four cars, kidnapped and reportedly raped a young Montana mother, forced two Canadians at gunpoint to drive him through eastern Idaho and then holed up in the

Devaluation Completed
PARIS, Oct. 27 (AP)—The French government imposed a 20 per cent tax on all imports today, in effect completing devaluation of the franc begun last August. The value of the franc in international exchanges now will be 420 to the dollar.

Oilman Worth $700 Million To Billion Identified As Nation's Wealthiest Man

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Fortune Magazine today identified J. Paul Getty, an American oilman now living in Paris, as the nation's richest man. It said he is worth 700 million to a billion dollars.

Fortune's list was spotted with familiar family names—Mellons, Rockefellers, Du Ponts, Pews, Astors and Fords. But there were many lesser-known names on the list.

Getty heads a list of 76 Americans whose wealth Fortune estimates at over 76 million apiece. Said the Fortune article:

"Significantly, oil, either as the basis of inherited fortunes or as the root of new ones, is the greatest single source of modern American wealth, just as significantly 45 per cent of those listed made their fortunes on their own."

New York is still the chief habitat of the millionaire, according to Fortune, but oil-rich Texas is coming up fast.

Fortune called its estimates of individual wealth "generally on the conservative side."

Hefty Bodyguard Of Slain Mobster Held As Vagrant

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Anthony Coppola, beefy bodyguard of slain mobster Albert Anastasia, was held in $50,000 bail today on a vagrancy charge.

Coppola had given conflicting stories of where he was Friday morning when Anastasia, 55, reputed "high executioner" of the old Brooklyn Murder, Inc., was blasted to death by two masked gunmen as he sat in a hotel barber shop chair.

Coppola, 49, was told of his boss' death Friday at his home in Fairview, N. J. He said he had driven home in Anastasia's car after dropping him off near the Park Sheraton Hotel that morning, then had his sister return the car to a parking lot in downtown Manhattan.

Later, Coppola told police he was on his way to the hotel barber shop, off 7th Ave. on 55th St. when he heard about the shooting and then drove to his New Jersey home.

Police still are trying to find out why Coppola was not with Anastasia when the mobster was killed.

13 Texas Towns Without Gas As Lines Blown Up

DAINGERFIELD, Tex., Oct. 27 (AP)—Blasts which ripped apart two gas pipelines near the strikebound Lone Star Steel Co. plant left 13 northeast Texas towns without fuel today. Police blamed saboteurs.

"It's definitely sabotage," Texas Ranger Sgt. Arthur Hill said. "I don't think there's any question about it."

Morris County Sheriff A. E. Howell said, "it looks like they were blown up by dynamite or nitroglycerine."

Gas service was cut off as temperatures dipped as low as 27 degrees in the area. A spokesman for the Arkansas-Louisiana Gas Co. estimated 12,000 of its customers were affected.

He said most of the customers would have service restored by late today.

Hill said no arrests had been made in the case. "We don't have anything definite enough to arrest anyone now," he said.

Householders pressed electric heaters into service and a 50-bed hospital at neighboring Gilmer sent out for extra blankets to keep patients warm, using its only heaters in the nursery. More than a dozen churches canceled morning services.

Both lines blew up at 11:30 last night at points about five miles apart. One break was two miles east and the other three miles south of the Lone Star steel plant, which is six miles south of Daingerfield.

A wildcat strike which started there Sept. 21 has been marked by sporadic bombings and other violence.

The steel plant, which is served by a Humble Co. gas line, continued operations.

Ed Ball, Houston, international representative for the United Steelworkers of America, said today of the pipeline explosions, "This is the first I have heard of it."

Ball said he was sent here by his union when the strike began. "I can't see how the explosions have anything to do with the strike," he said.

Eight Perish In Fire

TACHIKAWA, Japan, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eight persons were killed today when a two-story dormitory housing Japanese repatriates burned to the ground in an early morning fire.

It pointed out, for example, that listing Texas oilman Sid Richardson in the 200 to 400 million bracket, no account was taken of half a billion dollars worth of oil still in the ground that he owns.

Fortune's list was spotted with familiar family names—Mellons, Rockefellers, Du Ponts, Pews, Astors and Fords. But there were many lesser-known names on the list.

In the 400 to 700 million bracket was Arthur Vining Davis of Miami, who made his fortune in Alcoa and Florida real estate, and H. L. Hunt, the Dallas oil operator.

Others in the category are Mrs. Mellon Bruce, of New York; Paul Mellon, of Upperville, Va.; Richard King Mellon, of Pittsburgh; John D. Rockefeller Jr., of New York; and Mrs. Alan M. Scaife of Pittsburgh.

In the 200 to 400 million class were Howard Hughes, Los Angeles tool manufacturer, aircraft maker and movie producer; Joseph P. Kennedy, former U.S. ambassador to England; and Daniel K. Ludwig, a New York shipper.

Khrushchev Apparently Sure Of Self

Western Diplomats Believe Soviet War Hero Downgraded

MOSCOW, Oct. 27 (AP)—The stark announcement of the removal of Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov as Soviet defense chief appeared to Westerners here today to reflect more than anything else the supreme confidence of Nikita Khrushchev that he is boss.

Diplomatic sources used such terms as audacious, surprising and bold to describe the unexpected step which put another professional soldier, Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, into the high post of defense minister.

Whether popular hero Zhukov is going up or down, his removal appeared to Westerners to represent the firm conviction that whatever action Khrushchev takes there will be no adverse reaction in this country.

Most Western diplomats, after studying the manner and timing of the Soviet announcement of Zhukov's removal, were leaning toward the view that the Soviet World War II hero was being downgraded.

Significant Omission

"The omission from the official announcement of any indication that the change was made to permit Zhukov's assignment to other duties—such as premier or deputy premier—could have only one possible effect on the Soviet public," said one veteran diplomat. "They would read into the announcement that Zhukov is out."

"Certainly if the Communist high command planned to kick Zhukov upstairs into a new job there would have been some hint of it in the announcement if for no other reason than for home consumption."

Nevertheless, some diplomats said, "It's safer to wait and see."

Associated Press correspondents in Moscow seeking to relay their interpretation of the Zhukov removal by telephone to London have run into a censorship barrier. There was an impression they felt Zhukov actually was downgraded and unlikely to get a higher post.

Kremlin Dispute Hinted

(The AP correspondents said they sent dispatches Saturday abstracting Soviet press editorials hinting at some dispute inside the Kremlin. These dispatches were not received in London or New York and presumably were stopped by Soviet censors.)

(Saturday night, AP correspondent Roy Essoyan in Moscow was cut off as he telephoned a story of Zhukov's removal from Moscow to London. The connection was broken off as Essoyan said the possible reason for Zhukov's removal was contained in editorials published in the Soviet Union.)

(Irving R. Levine, correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co. in New York, broadcast from Moscow Sunday that it appeared Zhukov has been demoted. Levine who was not interrupted by censors, said the Kremlin decided on Zhukov's removal while he was out of the country and unable to organize any opposition to Khrushchev.)

Syrian-Turkish Brush Reported

DAMASCUS, Syria, Oct. 27 (AP)—Another bloodless encounter between Turkish and Syrian troops along the critical border was reported today.

A Syrian announcement said 30 Turkish soldiers, fully armed, crossed the border Friday and penetrated 200 yards inside Syria near the village of Amouda and entered the village of Garkak.

Several shots were fired, the announcement said, and the Turks pulled back to their side of the border when Syrian security forces appeared on the scene. One Syrian citizen was reported kidnapped.

The announcement came on the heels of earlier reports of border incidents involving troops on both sides exchanging fire—but with no casualties.

Syrian newspapers, meanwhile, pictured northern cities and villages preparing for a possible Turkish attack. The newspaper Al Ruu'aulam said the commander of Syria's northern area confirmed that some Egyptian officers had arrived at Aleppo to train civilians in street fighting. Egyptian troops arrived in Syria two weeks ago as reinforcements for Syria's defense.

Other papers described Aleppo—Syria's economic capital, only 45 miles from the Turkish border—as a "fortress" sufficiently prepared to "make the city a cemetery for invaders."

Tangier's Japanese Physician Honored

Devotion To Duty Prevents Attendance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Dr. Mikio Kato, son of a Japanese fisherman who volunteered to be a physician for isolated Tangier Island, Va., was honored by the Virginia Medical Society tonight for his devotion to medicine—but that same devotion prevented his attendance.

Dr. Kato was to have been presented a certificate voted unanimously by the society's House of Delegates commending his "unselfish devotion to medicine's highest ideals" by volunteering to take the isolated post.

Tangier Island is a fishing community in the Chesapeake Bay.

However, the word he could not come because many of his people are ill with the flu and because he has a "complicated OB patient who is ready to deliver."

Dr. Thomas E. Haggerty, society information officer, said that if Dr. Kato had come to the society session he would have been unable to return to Tangier Island until tomorrow noon since a boat makes only one trip daily to the mainland.

However, Dr. Kato, in a telegram to the society said "the honor which you, my brother physicians, have conferred on me this evening is one of the greatest I have ever received."

He said he would "very much like" to attend but "I must regretfully forego the pleasure."

In Dr. Kato's absence, his certificate was accepted for him by Dr. Edgar J. Fisher, Jr., director of the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care.

Dr. Haggerty said the society regretted Dr. Kato could not attend personally but added "he is showing the same sense of duty for which the society is honoring him."

Tangier Island's predicament was that its inhabitants had needed a doctor for some three years and no doctor appeared particularly interested.

At the instigation of their only clergyman, the Rev. Oscar Rishel, the residents built a $26,000 medical center in hopes of attracting a doctor. The Virginia Medical Society aided in the project.

Dr. Kato, an intern on duty in Connecticut, heard of Tangier Island's plight and volunteered his services. However, he had to return to Japan in order to enter the United States under the official quota.

He ran into immigration difficulties and was unable to re-enter the United States. At that point Rev. Rishel and Edgar J. Fisher Jr., director of the Virginia Council of Health and Medical Care, came to his aid with the result that Dr. Kato was able to return to this country and take up his Tangier Island assignment.

Infant Follows Parents In Death

DETROIT, Oct. 27 (AP)—A 6-month-old girl who was found unconscious Friday night in a room where her parents had lain dead four days, died today at Detroit Receiving Hospital.

The child, Latonia Brown, was in critical condition from malnutrition and dehydration when police found her in the bedroom of her parents' two-room apartment near downtown Detroit. She never recovered consciousness. Doctors at the hospital said she had been without food and water for four days.

The exact cause of death of the parents, James Brown, 22, and his wife, Clara, 17, hasn't yet been determined.

Soviet Policy Hint May Come In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 27 (AP)—U.N. observers said today a meeting of the General Assembly tomorrow may provide the first hint whether Soviet foreign policy has hardened with the change in defense ministers.

Tomorrow's session will be the first since Moscow radio and Tass announced that Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov has been relieved of the post of defense minister and Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky named to succeed him.

The 82-nation Assembly session will be for further debate on Syria's complaint that Turkey has massed troops on the border to attack her. Turkey has denied the allegation.

Boyer Named MDA Engineering Director

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—Walter C. Boyer of Baltimore, senior design engineer for J. E. Greiner Co. has been named director of engineering for the Maryland Port Authority.

MPA Chairman Robert W. Williams said Boyer would join the staff Nov. 1 at a salary of $15,000 a year. He said the job would be one of MPA's most important because of a major construction program for new cargo piers.

Boyer was formerly an associate professor of engineering at Johns Hopkins University. He has done extensive work for the State Roads Commission, including soil reports for the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

Naval Training Center Graduates Last Class

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Naval Training Center here, about to have its 12,000-man strength cut to 4,000, graduated its last class of recruits yesterday.

The 2,000-man class was told by Rear Adm. Francis M. Hughes it was the last "in the foreseeable future."

The Navy recently announced it would concentrate its boot camp training at Great Lakes, Ill. and San Diego, Calif. and eliminate the training program at Bainbridge.

That would leave the sprawling naval center here only with WAVE training and certain specialists schools.

Jersey Election Next Week May Provide '60 Clue

NEWARK, N.J., Oct. 27 (AP)—The nation's Republican and Democratic top brass will watch anxiously the outcome of next week's gubernatorial election in New Jersey.

For the Democrats, the Nov. 5 contest may produce a candidate for national office. And for the Republicans it may show a reversal of the recent trend against them in state elections.

If Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner is re-elected, his victory may boost his chances for his party's 1960 presidential or vice presidential nomination.

If State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes, the Republican candidate for governor, defeats Meyner, the upset will be a shot in the arm for the GOP.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in New Jersey last week that a Forbes victory would "be the best tonic the Republican party has had since 1956 and before."

New Jersey and Virginia are the only two states in the nation holding gubernatorial elections this year. The results of the New Jersey contest will be watched as a barometer of the national trend for the 1960 presidential election.

Both parties are also anxious to determine the full effect of the recent segregation controversy in Arkansas on he Northern Negro voters. Newark, largest city in New Jersey, has a sizable Negro population, recently estimated at 24 to 29 per cent.

This year, 2,783,315 New Jerseyans have registered to vote—125,000 more than in the last gubernatorial election in 1953.

For the past two months, Meyner, a middle-of-the-road Democrat, trying to shake hands with as many of its five and a half million citizens as he can. At 49, the handsome chief executive has proven himself a tireless campaigner whose appeal is especially noted among the state's women voters.

Boy Seized After Shooting Spree Given Mental Tests

HANOVER, Md., Oct. 27 (AP)—Charles Smith, 14-year-old boy arrested by State Police after a shooting spree in which two school companions were wounded and a man dropped dead in the excitement, was in Spring Grove State Hospital for psychiatric tests today.

The tousle-haired boy, who police said was "heckled by other boys in the neighborhood" because of his studious bent, was captured in a gravel pit yesterday morning, about nine hours after the shootings.

State Police said he was carrying a .22 caliber rifle and a shotgun when troopers found him. He offered no resistance and silently obeyed a trooper's order to unload and drop the guns.

Wounded in the fray were Carol Ann Downing, 15, whose face was peppered by shotgun pellets, and Francis Bussey, also 15, who was shot in the groin. Both are in satisfactory condition at Mount St. Agnes Hospital.

Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Smith, described their son as the studious type. Mrs. Mary McGoury, his homeroom teacher last year in junior high school said he was "above average, academically."

Guatemala Interior President Sworn In

GUATEMALA, Oct. 27 (AP)—Retired Col. Guillermo Flores Avendano took over as a provisional president of troubled Guatemala today. He took his oath of office in hasty ceremonies in the presidential palace where President Carlos Castillo Armas was slain by an assassin's bullet last July.

Flores Avendano was second vice president in Castillo Armas' anti-Communist regime.

Only a few hours before the swearing-in ceremony, Guatemala's Congress—meeting in a member's home to avoid demonstrations—designated 61-year-old Flores Avendano as the man to lead this country out of the turmoil touched off by last Sunday's presidential election. He will serve until a new election can be held.

He takes over from a three-colonel military junta which seized the government after a flareup of mob violence last Thursday. The junta nullified the election and called for a new one. No date was set.

Kansas City Area Chain Markets Closed By Strike

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27 (AP)—A strike of meat cutters which has sharply curtailed grocery store operations in the Greater Kansas City area continued today with no sign of settlement.

The strike closed more than 75 per cent of the chain supermarkets yesterday.

Normally chains have more than 70 stores open on Sunday but only 26 opened today.

Members of Local 576 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workers Union started striking Friday after contract negotiations broke down.

As pickets went out, the strike gained the full cooperation of the Retail Clerks Union. More than 90 per cent of the store clerks were reported off work at major chain stores yesterday.

Heart Attacks Seen Prevented Within 10 Years

CHICAGO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Within 10 years we could learn how to prevent heart attacks, the president-elect of the American Heart Assn. declared tonight.

Dr. Robert W. Wilkins of Boston said there now are such highly promising clues that the answer could come that soon, with intensified and continued research. He takes office Tuesday.

Earlier, for a public puzzled over conflicting advice on how to guard their hearts, a panel of medical experts said:

We just don't know enough about causes yet to tell everyone to cut way down on fats, or make drastic and difficult changes in diet.

If you're overweight, get down to normal weight and stay there. This means reducing total calories, and also some fats which are high in calories. Keeping proper weight is good for general health, might help your heart.

"A fat man walking one mile needs a quart of oxygen per minute, a thin man only half a quart. If both had the same amount of artery clogging or hardening, the heart of the fat man gets in trouble first," said Dr. Herbert Pollack of New York University College of Medicine.

Program Juggling

KARACHI, Oct. 27 (AP)—Pakistan invited parliamentary delegations from the United States and the Soviet Union to visit in December and now is doing some program juggling so they won't run into each other. Eight senators are due here Dec. 7 and a 10-member Moscow delegation Dec. 15.

Science Foundation Calls For Changes In Tax Laws

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The National Science Foundation today recommended some "far-reaching" measures including changes in federal tax laws—to stimulate financial and other support of basic scientific research in the United States.

Such research, the NSF indicated, plays a vital role in the nation's defense, economy, and health.

The foundation, in a 64-page report entitled "basic research—a national resource," said Russia constitutes a formidable competitor in the field of basic research and has given special and significant attention to it—thus giving "added urgency" in recent years to steps needed for an accelerated American program.

"Basic" research is fundamental investigation in science which may or may not have ultimate practical significance—and it is distinguished from "applied" research and development, although it is an initial requirement for both.

"Satchmo" Begins Tour

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Jazz trumpeter Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong left by plane today on an unofficial good will tour of five South American countries.

The foundation was created by Congress in 1950 to promote scientific progress. Its primary purpose is to foster basic research and education in the sciences.

The report declared that Russia presently appears to be laying heavier emphasis on basic research than is this country and that this and other factors is likely to give the United States a "short-run" advantage in technology.

"But," it added, "if this country is not to suffer in the long run, it must act upon the principle that progress in applied research and development depends absolutely on the growth and encouragement of basic research."

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS
 Q. 1—As South you hold:
 ♠Q 10 9 3 2 ♦Q J 10 3 ♣K Q 6 4
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 heart Pass 1 spade
 Pass 2 no trump Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—There is at least an even chance that this hand will play to better advantage at a suit contract and the recommended call is three clubs or diamonds. If partner returns to spades we would proceed to game in that suit. It persists in no trump, that should be the best contract.
 Q. 2—As South you hold:
 ♠J 6 3 ♥K 7 ♦A 10 9 7 ♣J 10 4 3
 Your partner opens the bidding with one club. What is your response?

A.—One no trump. If you made the response of one diamond and partner's rebid was in hearts or spades, there would be no appealing rebid available to you. A return to two clubs would seem too much of an underbid, and any jump would commit the partnership to game. The immediate one no trump response describes a fair hand over a club opening—11 high card points with balanced distribution.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
 ♠10 7 ♥Q 8 4 ♦K 6 ♣A K 10 5 4 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 club Pass 1 heart Pass
 2 hearts Pass 2 no trump Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. Although your hand is minimum in high card content, acceptance of partner's game invitation is recommended due to the fine six card suit. However, the hand may play better at a suit if partner has five hearts and a delayed raise is recommended. He will not expect more than three card support since you did not raise the hearts immediately.

Q. 4—As South you hold:
 ♠10 9 6 ♥3 ♦Q J 10 7 5 ♣J 10 8
 The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 1 heart Double 2 hearts ?
 What do you bid?

A.—Three diamonds. While a free response at the three level should normally show somewhat more high card strength, partner may be unable to take further independent action. By taking "the strain" off him you can prevent the opposition from buying the hand at a bargain price.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
 ♠A J 5 3 ♥Q ♦A K 10 9 ♣J 4 3 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 heart Double 1 spade Double
 Pass Pass 2 hearts Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades. West has been trying to "psych" you out of your suit, but North's double of the one spade bid combined with West's escape to two hearts has exposed him. North has let West's runout come around to you for appropriate action and it is now incumbent on you to complete the exposure.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
 ♠J 4 3 ♥A 10 6 ♦K Q 8 3 2 ♣7 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 diamond 1 spade 2 diamonds Pass
 3 diamonds Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. If partner has suitable protection in the black suits he can now try three no trump. The delayed "cue bid" does not show overpowering strength since your original competitive raise has limited your hand.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
 ♠9 7 5 ♥Q 4 3 ♦K Q 10 ♣J 6 3 2
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 Pass Pass 1 club Pass
 Double Pass ?
 What do you bid now?

A.—Obviously partner is unwilling to concede a part score effort to the opposition and is asking you to select one of the red suits. It is always irksome when your only four card suit has been adversely bid but this situation should not be regarded as a calamity. If you haven't a four card suit to bid, you must try to get along as well as possible with a three card suit. Whether you should bid two hearts or two diamonds is a matter of temperament. Our own taste runs to two hearts, though with highly unreliable partners there may be a slightly greater measure of safety in bidding two diamonds, which is less apt to be supported by North.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
 ♠A 8 4 ♥A 7 5 ♦A K 9 2 ♣A 10 6
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 diamond 2 clubs 2 diamonds Pass ?
 What action do you take?

A.—This is a very powerful hand facing a partner who is able to make a free bid and the possibilities are unlimited. A leap to three no trump would be ultra-conservative and the recommended procedure is to make a cue bid of three clubs, postponing further aggressive action until partner is heard from again. Needless to say, you will not settle for anything less than game. No fleeting thought should be given to a call like two no trump, which in this sequence is not even forcing and could readily be passed by partner.

Who suffers from inflation?

Everyone, especially those living on a fixed income... the retired man on a pension... the widow trying to make ends meet.

Who suffers? The young people who may be denied the education they deserve, because the savings for their education were not enough, due to the lower purchasing power of the dollar.

Who suffers? The taxpayer who must pay an ever-larger share of income to a government which must pay more for the things it needs.

Who suffers? Isn't the real question to ask yourself, "Who doesn't suffer?"

Fighting inflation is everybody's job, but the key person in the fight is you—as a buyer, a saver, and a taxpayer.

Here's what you can do

As a buyer, you can buy wisely. Buy what you really need, but make sure you get your money's worth.

As a saver, you can add to your family's security by saving some extra dollars every payday. These extra savings will provide capital our nation needs to keep our economy growing.

As a taxpayer, you can take an interest in your government buying wisely, too. Remember, overspending by government helps push prices up.

You, in short, are in the driver's seat. How carefully you buy... how diligently you save... how plainly you make your opinions known... can help determine how quickly we lick inflation.

Ground Broken For New Plant At Frostburg

Work To Start Immediately

FROSTBURG — Despite a blinding snow storm yesterday afternoon, several score persons who have worked actively on the local fund campaign for construction of a new garment plant here, participated in a formal groundbreaking ceremony.

Committee members, town officials and many interested citizens assembled at 2 p. m. at the factory site between Grahamtown and Wrights Crossing, along the west side of Route 36 near the road bed of the old C&P Railroad. Mayor Joseph James turned the first spade of earth, and announced that construction work is to get underway immediately.

The plant building will house the Cumberland Undergarment Company and is being built here with funds raised in a public bond sale campaign. Area residents have pledged a total of $70,000 in units of $100 each. For each unit, a bond will be issued, with the entire issue to be retired over a 20-year period.

Among those attending the ceremony were US Senator J. Glenn Beall, and former mayor, Perry W. Myers. Maurice Milberg represented the Undergarment Company.

Mayor James noted that pledges are due now and checks should be made payable to the Frostburg Industrial Development Company. Receipts will be issued until bonds can be printed, he observed.

Simms Trial Opens Today In Keyser

Women Are Listed On Jury Panel

KEYSER — Jury trials open in Mineral County Circuit Court here this morning with the murder case of Clarence Simms, 22-year-old local negro, formerly of Cumberland, who is charged with fatally stabbing his eight-week-old baby daughter in the Simms apartment on Potomac Heights last June.

Court observers first thought Simms would enter a plea and ask the mercy of the court. Prosecuting Attorney Donald C. Holt is reported to have refused to accept a guilty plea to anything less than first degree manslaughter, while Simms is said to have been willing to plead guilty to nothing higher than second degree manslaughter.

With the impasse, it appears that Simms will most certainly go on trial today.

For the first time in the history of Mineral county, women will serve on the trial juries at this term of court. Several are listed on the venire of names announced by Circuit Clerk James A. Dixon. Their names follow:

New Creek District — Frank Bartlett, Britton Day, William McDonald, John I. Rogers, Andrew S. Murray, John F. Somerville, Jr., Maxine Barger, Bruce Robinette, John D. MacLeod and Dewey W. Borror.

Industry Leader Warns Of Forest Fire Danger

Hunters, Hikers Given Reminder

LUKE — The help of all citizens, young and old, is needed to prevent forest fires during the next few weeks, a forest industry spokesman declared yesterday.

L. D. Peterson of Luke, chairman of the Maryland Forest Industries Committee, said much of the state where hardwood forests predominate is now in the peak forest fire danger season. The woods, he said, are full of dead, dry leaves ready to serve as kindling to set timberlands aflame from any kind of a spark.

This year could be particularly dangerous, the industry man pointed out, because below normal rainfall has resulted in low moisture content in the ground cover.

Peterson said the answer to preventing fire disasters lies in remembering that nine out of 10 forest fires are caused by human carelessness, particularly with smoking materials, debris burning, and camp fires. "Take one extra moment to be careful and you will help keep Maryland Green," he said.

In these days of increasing multiple use of forestlands, fishing, hiking, camping and scenic values rank along with timber production as important values to be protected from fires, he declared.

"Everyone in our state has a direct interest in preventing forest fires," Peterson added. "They cost tax money to extinguish, destroy timber crops, leave unsightly scars and rob the sportsmen of fish and game," he said.

Garbage Plan Is Established At Lonaconing

LONAICONING — The Town of Lonaconing will begin collecting garbage, ashes and rubbish from homes Friday.

This will include all homes in the corporate limits of the town. There will be no charge for the remainder of the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1958.

Robert Thomas, town clerk, said that on every Friday after November 1 garbage will be picked up while on Wednesdays ashes and rubbish will be collected.

The town has acquired a tract of land on Jackson Mountain which will be used as a dump. Heretofore garbage was collected by an independent contractor who charged residents fees for the service.

Thomas pointed out that cards will be distributed house-to-house and residents will be informed on the rules and regulations set up for the collection of garbage, including how to pack the garbage in containers.

On Thursday a free movie will be shown to the public at 8 p. m. in the firemen's armory. The movie will show how to prepare garbage for collection.

Thomas said that the town will keep accurate records of the expense of garbage collection and at the end of the fiscal year will determine whether the free service can be continued or whether a few cents will have to be added to the tax rate to cover the expense.

Flu Epidemic Limits Blood Donations

MOOREFIELD — The American Red Cross Bloodmobile received 60 pints of blood last Tuesday from a community laid low by viruses of different kinds. The quota set for the Hardy County Chapter was 150 pints but local workers and the Red Cross unit from Washington felt that the results were better than expected with so much illness in the community.

Fifty of the donors were repeaters while 10 new donors appeared. The Moorefield community furnished 49 of the donors this trip with other communities as follows: Needmore four, Mathias two, Fabius, Fisher, Bergton (Va.), Purgitsville and Rio, one each.

Sixty five persons were scheduled but only 35 of them showed up while 30 were the ever-helpful walk-ins. There were five rejections.

Thirteen local workers gave 74 hours of service. Mrs. W. J. Teets, Mrs. R. E. Fisher, receptionists; Mrs. A. C. McNeill, Mrs. Howard Bell and Mrs. Ethel Bean, registrars; Mrs. William Goetz and Mrs. Joe Welton, registered nurses; Mrs. Ted Sager, juice; Mrs. John Harman and Mrs. Ashby Scea, bottles; canteen and donor room aids, Mrs. Ellis Hyre, Mrs. Guy Bean, Mrs. Jim Tenney and Mrs. J. M. Harman; Motor Service, George Murphy.

The Loewengart Company sent thirteen men from the tannery to give blood.

Way Of Dictators: A Reminder

Most Italians, unhappy at economic disorder and governmental indecision, were ready for almost any regime that promised to know its own mind. Italy had done badly in the war and in the spoils of war; workers had seized metal factories in the course of strikes and lockouts; prices were high, wages low, unemployment rife; U. S. immigration restriction had cut off one great outlet for the over-population.

Fascist squads had shown determination in dispossessing local Communist governments in Bologna and elsewhere, breaking up Communist, Socialist and liberal meetings and organizations, and bringing to naught a general strike; panicky industrialists and landowners lent support to the Fascist movement; restless war veterans joined it. The Fascist party at a huge convention in Naples on October 24, 1922 resolved to take over the government.

The Fascist leader was Benito Mussolini, former radical Socialist leader, now 39. Under his orders Fascist detachments from all over Italy marched on Rome on October 27, while he himself retired to Milan to watch the fun.

The Facta government, long supine, finally asked for authority to use the Army against insurrection. King Victor Emmanuel III demurred at signing a martial law decree; the besieged Government resigned; the king sent for Mussolini; he arrived by train in Rome on October 30 and formed a new Government with dictatorial powers.

Mussolini lined up with Hitler in 1936 and on "a day of infamy" in June 1940, when France was on her knees, declared war on France, Britain and Russia. He lasted more than 20 years, until July 1944, when, repudiated even by his Fascist party, he was placed in protective custody. Rescued by Nazi paratroopers in September, he was nabbed along Lake Como by Italian Partisans in April 1945 and was shot, not many hours before his fellow dictator in Berlin shot himself.

These Days

The Baby Boom

The baby boom worries school boards, population experts and budget-makers because they realize that the cost of schooling is to increase and the taxpayer is already complaining about too high taxes. The colleges are faced by an excessive number of students, many of whom have no desire for an academic education and no capacity for learning but who go because it is fashionable.

The schools and colleges are slowly being corrupted by the presence of backward students who bring down the standards unless there is firm resistance to them, a resistance which becomes difficult in some lax-supported universities. On the other hand, when young people have nothing to do, when they are bored, they become what is called juvenile delinquents, not because they are bad but because they need an outlet for their energies. The classroom is not such an outlet, as they dislike classes, teachers, books and sitting around. These young people want and need action.

Therefore, our employment theories have to be revised as the population increases. It will have to come that young people will be employable at a much earlier age than they are today. Certainly 18 is too old to have to wait to earn a living if the one who waits hates schools and books and has no head for learning. Much school space is wasted on such students.

According to "Population Bulletin," the present baby boom is due partly to the increase in marriages during and following World War II, the postponed marriages during the Depression and the early war years. Also economic conditions after the war were favorable to having families, particularly because of the extra money that came from the various veteran benefits and social security measures. As youth assumes no responsibilities, he marries fearlessly, not like his parents who worried whether they could earn a living, as it was called in their generation. Today if he cannot get a job, she can, and does it really matter who supports the family—they both wear pants.

This product of war has had the social effect of early marriages and larger families, although very large families are on the decrease. The annual rate for third births in 1940-41 was 1.8 (per 100 married women under age 45). This rose to 3.1 in the 1954-55 period, and according to "Population Bulletin," the "rate for fourth births increased 70 percent during this period."

It used to be that students at college were required to be unmarried. Generally speaking, there is no such requirement for either males or females currently, which means that marriages need not be postponed until the family has a breadwinner. This is particularly true of the large number of students who had G. I. Bill of Rights benefits and who lived on college campuses or nearby, often in Quonset huts, while they studied. This change in the regulations of many colleges, of course, means that some students will marry out-of-turn, unable to support their families, and limiting themselves to ambitious but secure lives, depending upon "fringe benefits" and pensions to protect them against the proverbial rainy day.

It is an interesting social shift that we are beholding and where it will lead to, it is impossible to forecast except to state that we are increasing our population enormously and rapidly and that sooner or later, the relationship of population to resources, in the country will have to be restudied. The question will arise here, as it has in so many older countries, as to what is the maximum population for the United States on our standard of living. How many more than 200,000,000 can this area support on our standard of living?

Opinions differ. Some believe in the principle of the more the merrier; others insist that there is already evidence that water and some other natural resources are receding and this can affect the standard of living more than any other factors. So we have a problem with which the politicians dare not cope because if they find on analysis that we are becoming over-populated, how will that influence their votes in Congress on immigration issues?

Something Besides Our Chins Needs Raising

Some Large, Ugly Cats Get Out Of The Bag

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Certain very large and ugly cats have been let out of the bag in recent days. These revelations cast a new light on the Eisenhower administration's policies in the race with the Soviet Union for superiority in the ballistic missiles. And in the now inevitable full dress investigation of those policies, the cats that have been let out of the bag are going to be very hard indeed to explain away.

Cat number one was the report in the authoritative technical magazine, "Aviation Week," that a radar tracking system in Turkey has been monitoring tests of ballistic missiles in the Soviet Union for more than two years. The report has not been denied for the simple reason that it is true—the existence of the radar system, which is of course known to the Soviets, has been common knowledge among those who interest themselves in such matters for a long time.

The meaning of this particular cat-out-of-the-bag is quite obvious. The Administration has not had to guess about Soviet progress in the missile field, or to rely on doubtful secret intelligence reports. It has known, without the slightest room for doubt, that the Soviets have tested hundreds of the shorter range strategic missiles, scores of the intermediate missiles, and this year, at least eight missiles of inter-continental range.

The Administration has known, in short that the Soviets have been rapidly outdistancing this country in the ballistics missile race, whose outcome will predictably determine the future balance of world power. And this is where cat-out-of-the-bag number two comes into play.

For cat number two concerns the Administration's reaction to the hard intelligence of Soviet missile progress. This cat is emerging little by little, and is not entirely out of the bag yet. The "Washington Post and Times-Herald" for example, recently reported an order by former Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson which last summer cut research and development work largely on missiles, by some $170 million.

The order, successfully concealed for a long time, came right on the heels of the first detection by the radar monitoring system of Soviet tests of inter-continental-range missiles. Other parts of the cat are also out of the bag, like the order limiting work on the American ICBM to a five-day week, with no overtime, and the heavy cuts in Air Force procurement, including procurement for the Strategic Air Command.

Some parts of the cat have yet to emerge fully, like the economy-dictated slowdown in the schedule for "Titan," the Martin Company's vital ICBM project, by a full ten months. But the essential fact, which the forthcoming Congressional investigation is certain to establish, is simply this: The Administration reacted to hard intelligence of Soviet technological progress especially in the missile field, by sharply cutting back on our own efforts in that field.

A further fact can also be established — that the Pentagon powers that be, knowing the facts, sought to conceal them. An

American Heart Association Does Valuable Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Physical immortality comes closer to reality with progress in combating heart disease. This thought goes through my mind every time I attend the meetings of the American Heart Association. We can expect to live longer because more and more are being accomplished against our No. 1 cause of death.

The triumphs of cardiac surgery, the prevention of rheumatic fever, and our increasing knowledge of factors that help or harm the heart all prolong our years but do not prevent death. The grim reaper has an ace in the hole, and if and when the top man on the totem pole topples, cancer or accidents will climb to first place.

But overcoming the frailties of the old ticker will do more than lengthen our span of years. The young with congenital heart defects or valvular leakage due to rheumatic fever will be happier and more comfortable and our senior citizens will be able to carry on without fear of heart attacks or incapacity due to angina pectoris. They will look forward to retirement as an enjoyable era and not as the beginning of the end.

The control of cardiac disease has other implications. There are approximately 39 million married couples in the United States. Many of these families will be disrupted by the death of husband or wife and the surviving member will be confronted with a variety of new problems.

The situation is most serious when the father of young children is taken. The loss also is a catastrophe when it occurs late in life, separating an older couple who had been devoted to each other for three or four decades. So many of the victims are men with heart disease that there is a "spare your husband" movement afoot among wives. This is what the American Heart Association hopes to do.

Numerous advances have been made in our knowledge of the prevention, cause, and treatment of the major classes of heart disease. These accomplishments will become more noticeable to the public in the future and members of the AHA deserve our thanks for the work they are doing.

Since there are several types of arthritis, the predisposing causes vary. Economy Blocks Weather Bureau Flying Research On Hurricanes

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Weather Bureau officials are burnt up about it, and the people of Texas, Louisiana, Florida, and the coast are going to be even more burnt up when they hear the details about it. But Eisenhower economy will soon end Air Force research into the cause and whereabouts of hurricanes.

The two B-50s and one B-47 which the Air Force has been flying for the Weather Bureau into the path of hurricanes, loaded with electronics equipment, will stop operating in about a month. The $500,000 worth of special scientific equipment will be taken out and the planes will return to other duty.

The Air Force has notified the Weather Bureau that under the rigid economy program it is pinching every penny and just can't afford to operate these three planes any more.

The Weather Bureau has argued that in the last four years hurricanes have taken a toll of 1,000 lives and destroyed two billion dollars worth of property. Furthermore, the Weather Bureau is experimenting with means for breaking up hurricanes to divert them away from populated areas. This experiment, they point out, is even more important than launching a sputnik.

To finish its research, the Weather Bureau needs to fly through 24 to 36 hurricanes with the intricate equipment now assembled in the three Air Force planes. So far they've flown through only eight—this in one year of operation.

The Weather Bureau's budget was cut $2,000,000 last year, which forced the firing of 100 employees. This did not affect the hurricane project, because the Air Force shared in its cost. Now, however, the Air Force budget has been cut. The Weather Bureau has promised to try to get an extra $750,000 included in the Commerce Department's deficiency budget, but the Air Force, worried over its own forced economies, is skeptical.

So a research project which could be more beneficial to mankind than sputnik — diverting hurricanes away from populated areas—is scheduled to come to a halt.

Planes For Football

Down in Little Rock, Governor Faubus had enough Air Force money to operate two national guard planes to the Texas-Oklahoma game the other day. He sent his executive assistant, Tom Russell, and other Arkansas officers in two planes on a special private hop to see the football game.

The Arkansas officers complained that they were now "subjects," referring to the fact that the National Guard had been federalized. However, this did not seem to prevent them from using two federalized planes for which the Air Force supplies the money.

A total of 180 private planes, operated chiefly by oil tycoons, landed in Dallas to see the Texas-Oklahoma game. Since Texas is a hard-hit hurricane-tornado area, maybe some of them would like to fly the Weather Bureau's instruments through the hurricanes.

Nixon's Political Moves

The public doesn't notice it, but young Dick Nixon seldom misses a political trick. GOP politicians do notice it, however, with grudging admiration. They noted that he even cashed in politically on the luncheon he gave to Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

When President Eisenhower entertained the Queen he went in for big business executives who don't swing too many votes. They did, of course, contribute generously to Ike's campaign fund.

His guests included Walter Hoving, president of the Bonwit-Teller department store, contribution $500; Sigurd Larmon, president of Young & Rubicam advertising agency, contribution $1,500; Barry T. Leithead, president of the Cluett Peabody shirt company, contribution $3,000; Bob Woodruff, head of Coca-Cola, who with his wife contributed $8,450.

There was also Ellis Slater of Seagram's whiskey, contribution $2,500. His company got the valuable oil concession in the Lacasine Game Reserve where no oil drilling had ever been permitted by the Democrats. Also present was Mrs. Floyd Odium, the former Jackie Cochrane, who kicked in the nice little amount of $20,500 to the Ike campaign fund. Mrs. Odium's husband, who is head of the Atlas Corporation and Northeast Airlines, recently received a juicy air license to operate to Miami despite a CAB examiner's recommendation to the contrary.

Also at the dinner was Ike's brother-in-law, Col. Gordon Moore, who has conducted a very thriving lobbying business in Washington and who is Truman's day would have been called a five-percenter. Another dinner guest was George E. Allen, who in Truman's day was called the "White House jester" but was recently described by the Associated Press as the President's "occasional" golfing partner. Actually Allen purchased Ike's Gettysburg farm for him and was a partner with him in the ownership of a Howard Johnson Restaurant. He is one of Ike's most frequent bridge and golfing partners.

Nixon, however, played his cards differently. To his luncheon for the Queen on Capitol Hill he invited David McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, and Claude A. Barnett, director of the Associated Negro Press, together with their wives. Eisenhower invited no labor leaders or representatives of minority groups; Nixon invited no big business moguls.

About The Wealthy

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(INS)—"Very few feel sorry for themselves for being rich," sums up Fortune Magazine in an article on the 175 wealthiest American multimillionaires.

Well, now, that's a comforting thought at the start of the week. Burns along the Bowery and folks at relief headquarters were noticeably heartened by this newsy estimate. Winos and newly arrived Puerto Ricans cheered the revelation that Oilman J. Paul Getty, whose personal fortune is "conservatively" estimated at between $700,000,000 and $1,000,000,000, will experience no self-pity in the foreseeable future.

No chump, Getty. He lives in Paris.

To qualify for Fortune's article on the Very Rich a bloke had to have $50,000,000. Getty leads by a non-sorrowing couple hundred million. In the second flight, the $400 million to $700 million class, are four Mellons, John D. Rockefeller Jr., Miami's fabled realtor Arthur Vining Davis, and the City of Dallas's living reproach to Runyon's Law, "all horseplayers die broke"—oil baron H. L. Hunt.

Fortune's interesting piece unearths other oddities about these rich relatives: some carry as high as 75 per cent of their fortune in tax-exempt securities. Half of them have only one house or apartment. They average three servants. One spends only $6,000 a year running his home. They do most of their entertaining at home, rather than dining out. About half of them work eight or more hours a day. Forty-one per cent favor public schools for their children and grandchildren.

Several live on a tight personal budget. Most consider themselves quite careful with money. One California Croesus told Fortune, "I never lost sight of the value of a dollar since the time it took me an hour to make five cents." Just under half of them inherited the bulk of their wealth. In the third flight, ($200 million to $400 million) one runs into a covey of duPonts, Fort Worth's Sid Richardson, Howard Hughes and Joseph P. Kennedy, a reassuring name to see in these ranks. If his son makes President or Vice President in 1960 he could always drop Joe a postcard and say,

"Dear Pater: We're a little short at the U. S. Treasury. Howabout paying off the national debt?"

In answer to Mrs. Walter Scott, of East Meadow, L. I., New York, and others:

Philip is not Elizabeth's Prince Consort. He is a prince and the consort (husband) of the Queen, but not Prince Consort. Britain's only Prince Consort by title was Albert, husband of Victoria. Victoria battled Parliament for 19 years to win for him that title, which was decreed just a century ago last June 25. The title Prince Consort would give Philip little or no more authority than he now enjoys. If enjoys is the word.

Millions of former GIs who enjoyed TV's "Victory at Sea" and "Air Power" must have asked, "Say, weren't we in that war, too?"

Indeed you were, boys, and if a young TV producer from California named Tom Crowley has anything to do with it — and he does — the GIs of World War II and Korea and the A.E.F.'s doughboys of World War I will soon be viewing the major land engagements of those three wars —utilizing film shot on the scene.

I saw a cut of the sample film the other day and it will knock your hat off. It is the story of the American assault on the Gustav Line in Italy, the desperate fighting around Monte Cassino, the end run to Anzio and the entrance into Rome. Crowley worked two years with military advisers putting the U. S. and captured German film together. It is a front row seat at one of the most grueling battles of history, one that was never given its proper place in the annals of armed conflict.

It will make you wince and thrill at the hardness of the breed on both sides of the line. It should be made compulsory viewing at UN. The Defense Department shows wisdom and forethought in releasing its treasury of land war film at this stage in international relations.

The wedding of Bing Crosby to Kathy Grant came as no surprise to Civil War buffs. In the books, Grant always takes rich-man.

The current saber-rattling just goes to show how touchy the world is. All of outer space to conquer, and Russia and the U. S. are in a stew over a little marginal real estate.

Most scientists say the Russian satellite does not in itself constitute a weapon. So we have nothing to sphere but sphere itself.

The planets Venus and Saturn are clearly visible in the evening skies now, astronomers announce. Shucks! — who cares to look at such old-fashioned objects in these days of sputnik spying?

Packers Explode In Final Quarter, Beat Colts, 24-21

Babe Parilli Pass Sews Up Pro Thriller

Green Bay Scores 3 TDs, Field Goal In Furious Finish

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP)—Quarterback Babe Parilli and end Bill Howton worked a sensational 73-yard scoring pass play in the last 29 seconds today for a furious finish by the Green Bay Packers in beating the Baltimore Colts 24-21.

It was the third touchdown scored by the Packers in the period along with a field goal.

The nine-yard field goal by Fred Cone had given the Packers a 17-14 lead with only little more than two minutes to go.

The Colts stormed back 80 yards on the passing of quarterback John Unitas to score a touchdown and recapture a 21-17 lead. With only half a minute remaining, the majority of Colt fans among the 48,510 figured it was all over.

But on the first play after the kickoff, Parilli heaved the ball from his own 25 to the Colt 25 where it was gathered in at full speed by Howton on his way to the goal.

It was the second straight game in which Baltimore had blown a lead in the last quarter. Last Sunday, Detroit overcame a 24-point deficit to beat the Colts their first setback after three victories.

It was the second triumph in five National Football League games for the Packers.

Green Bay 0 0 0 24-21
Baltimore 7 7 0 21

Green Bay scoring: Touchdowns—Hornung (3, run; 2, run), Howton (75, pass-run from Parilli), Conversions, Cone 3. Field goal, Cone (9).

Baltimore scoring: Touchdowns—Berry (52, pass run from Unitas), Ameche (1-2, plunge), Moore (6, pass from Unitas), Conversions, Rechichar 3.

Steelers Top Eagles, 6-0

Morrall To Mathews Pass Decides Game

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (AP)—Quarterback Earl Morrall connected on a 35-yard touchdown pass to end Ray Mathews today in the second quarter and earned the Pittsburgh Steelers a 6-0 pulsating National Football League victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Steelers, responding to a mid-week scrimmage therapy, outplayed the Eagles both on the ground and in the air for the third Steeler victory in five games. It was the Eagles' fourth loss in five games.

The Steelers scored at 11:59 of the second period to climax a 58-yard drive. Mathews snared a toss in the end zone without a single Eagles' defender near him.

A crowd of 27,016 got more than it's money's worth watching one of the lowest scoring NFL contests of the 1957 football season.

Snow fell and forced the lights to be turned on with only 8 minutes elapsed in the first quarter. In a rare move early this week, Coach Buddy Parker ordered contact drills—something unheard of in pro ranks once the season starts—and the Steelers responded, intercepting 2 passes and recovering three opponent fumbles.

Nadir To Rest After Copping Richest Race

Winner Of $155,047 Headed For Hialeah

CAMDEN, N. J., Oct. 27 (AP)—A transplanted Virginia family, now the Hancock's of Kentucky, is taking dead aim at the Kentucky Derby today. Because of this, Nadir, who won the $277,150 Garden State Stakes Saturday is through for the year, and will rest until he begins his 3-year-old campaign at Hialeah Park in Miami during the winter.

Nadir put in his plug for the 2-year-old title when he galloped home a 2-length winner—over a Kentucky neighbor, Terra Firma, owned by R. D. Prewitt of Lexington, in the world's richest horse race. Terra Firma nosed out the Foxcatcher Farm's Rose Trellis, who was third in the 13-horse juvenile lineup.

After the Civil War, the Hancock's moved to Kentucky and established the Claiborne Farm at Paris in the blue grass country. It has been substantially a breeding farm until recent years when Arthur B. (Bull) Hancock, a one-time intercollegiate boxing champion at Princeton, decided to go after the big purses in earnest. Hancock wants above all to win a derby.

The orange silks of the Claiborne Farm date back a hundred years, but never shone brighter than Saturday when jockey Bill Hartack zoomed into the final bend with Nadir, took over the lead from C. T. Chevery's Virginia-bred Yemen, and sailed home to collect $155,047.50.

Tony DeMarco Fights Akins Tuesday Night

Welters To Meet In Boston Garden

[By The Associated Press]

Former champion Tony DeMarco of Boston and Virgil Akins of St. Louis clash Tuesday night in a 15-round bout at Boston Garden for Massachusetts' recognition as world welterweight champion.

Massachusetts is going alone in naming the winner the heir to the throne vacated by Carmen Basilio when he won the middleweight championship. The National Boxing Assn., the New York State Athletic Commission and the world championship boxing committee still are conferring over the makeup of the field for an elimination tournament.

While the victor won't get more than one-state recognition, the loser most likely will be dropped from the tournament field being set up by the other boxing groups. The 25-year-old DeMarco, conqueror of Gaspar Ortega, Larry Boardman and Walt Bars in his three fights this year, is top ranked in the champion-less division. Akins, 29, outpointed by Gil Turner in his last start, is ranked fifth by the NBA and sixth by Ring Magazine.

Other bouts this week include: WEDNESDAY—Kenny Lane, Muskegon, Mich., vs. Orlando Zuleta, of Cuba, at Chicago Stadium. THURSDAY—Archie Moore, light heavyweight champion, vs. Roy Harris of Texas, in non-title bout at Houston, Texas.

FRIDAY—Spider Webb of Chicago, vs. Willie Vaughn, Los Angeles, Calif., at Madison Square Garden.

It is estimated that seven million American homeowners need more space in their houses.

Heart Attack Proves Fatal To Morabito

Forty Niners Owner Collapses At Game

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 27 (AP)—Tony Morabito, 47, principal owner of the San Francisco 49ers, died in a hospital today shortly after suffering a heart attack in the Kezar Stadium press box during today's National League football game between the 49ers and the Chicago Bears.

Morabito, watching the action along with a capacity crowd of 59,000, slumped from his chair in the press box to the floor in the second quarter while his 49ers, co-leaders of the NFL's Western division, were trailing the Bears 7-14.

He died shortly after arriving at Mary's Help Hospital.

To the doctor's admonition that he get out of football, Morabito replied he would "rather stay in the game and take my chances."

Tony, whose full name is Anthony J., personally managed 49er business affairs, but generally left coaching to the staff.

Dr. O'Grady said at the time of Tony's 1952 attack that "the harassments of Mr. Morabito's business are such that it would collapse you or me."

The attack occurred during a momentary lapse in the excitement which had gripped the fans as the Bears scored two quick touchdowns in the first period.

Shortly after the 49ers had surged back to a touchdown of their own, Morabito was stricken.

His wife, Josephine, bent over him in anguish.

He was stretched out on a bench. Dr. O'Grady administered oxygen. Henry Schmidt, the 49er trainer, applied artificial respiration. A priest was summoned.

An ambulance from nearby Park Emergency Hospital rushed Morabito to Mary's Help Hospital. There his wife was joined by the Morabito's two daughters, Grace, 21, and Teresa, 18.

Graham Tells 40,000 War Possibility Is Increasing

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—Billy Graham told 40,000 people at the Polo Grounds today war appears "more possible now than at any other time in the past 10 years," and urged President Eisenhower to tell Americans "exactly where we stand."

"It would be most unfortunate if the President in his forthcoming speeches should say anything that would give the American people a false sense of security," the 38-year-old evangelist said.

"I was told a few days ago," he said, "by an American congressman that there is a small element within the Kremlin that believes that Russia should attack the United States within the next two years. We don't know what Polo Grounds today war appears is coming," he added.

Graham spoke at a service climaxed "Visitation Week," an annual event of the Protestant Council of Churches of New York City. This year the visitation program concentrated on following up "decisions for Christ" made at Graham's New York crusade in Madison Square Garden last spring and summer.

The crusade lasted from May 15 through Sept. 1. A series of suburban rallies followed a few weeks later.

Today's outdoor rally in the Polo Grounds, former home of the New York Giants, was held under grey skies. The temperature was in the low 40s.

In connection with security, Graham asserted "the American people are not children. We want the facts straight from the shoulder."

The evangelist said "the President is the only person with the prestige and confidence of the American people to call this nation into a period of sacrifice . . ."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Quick Gains

For every request for help in gaining weight, we get about 50, asking assistance in slimming down the figure. In the mailbag today is a plea from a young college girl who wants to add at least 15 pounds.

This shouldn't be too difficult even though it takes twice as much perseverance to gain an ounce than to lose a pound. But before you go into the business of dieting, see your doctor first. He can best determine whether or not some organic problem is keeping your weight down.

Once you get an okay from him, then perhaps it's an improper combination of foods that's responsible for your persistent underweight. You can be sure that "Your Beauty Diet" will take care of the what-to-eat problem. It's a system of eating that food experts have worked out for your benefit and your enjoyment. To get your copy of this diet, write to "Secrets of Charm" in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, return envelope together with 10c in coin.

Most Important

Breakfast is your most important meal—a big breakfast, that is. And if such a large meal is hard to face at that hour, try rising a half hour earlier than usual. Drink a glass of cool (not cold) water; breathe deeply before an open window; take a brisk shower and rubdown. Eat your "Beauty Diet" in a most leisurely fashion. Don't spare the butter on your toast. Pile on the jam. Try to eat a cereal, too, and add bananas when you can. This last dish makes a good one for that snack before retiring. In any case, if you wish to gain weight, your daily calorie intake must be approximately 3,200 calories.

To put an edge on your appetite for other meals, take a walk at least ten minutes in the fresh air before mealtime. Have a milk shake often during the day or at least some milk in the mid-morning and mid-afternoon.

Nude Look With Frills Ordained For Conference

LONDON, Oct. 27 (AP)—British nudists today ordained the "undressed look" for the sixth world congress of sun worshippers in England next August. But the nude look will have some frills.

Here are fashion decrees issued at the annual conference today of the British Sunbathing Assn., which is handling arrangements for the congress:

Correct dress for business sessions—undress.

Proper attire for the big dance on opening night—dress optional (white tie, dinner jacket or lounge suit for men. Evening or cocktail dress for ladies.)

What to wear at the reception given by the Duke of Bedford, on whose estate the conference will be held—clothes.

When it rains—an umbrella, at least.

When the sun shines—come as you are.

The British nudist conference got these rulings from an elderly gentleman in a tweed suit who serves as general secretary of the organization. A dignified, bald man in heavy-rimmed glasses, he gave this rule of thumb for social affairs: If outsiders attend in clothes, so do you.

As for the gala ball: "I should never be a party to organizing a dance in the nude."

The world congress will take place from Aug. 14 to 31 with business sessions from the 27th to the 31st.

BURKEY'S

LAVALE AND WESTERNPORT

A vintage Burkey's television set is shown on the right side of the advertisement. It has a dark, wood-grain style cabinet with a large screen. The screen displays a black and white photograph of a smiling woman with dark, wavy hair. The television is supported by four short, angled legs. Above the screen, there is a small label that reads "BURKEY'S PATENT".

"Studio One," one of the veteran live drama shows of television, moves to Hollywood at the beginning of next year and that leaves New York almost a ghost town in dramatic production, something the big town once monopolized. Surviving will be "Kraft Theater," the granddaddy of them all, and the alternating "U. S. Steel Hour" and "Armstrong Theater" — and that's about it.

In its announcement Westinghouse declared that Hollywood afforded a "rich breadth of attractions in both star performers and story material" which will contribute greatly to the program's appeal to the audience. Well, now that's debatable. As far as stories go, the same ones are available here; actually, there are probably more writers in the East and more originals written in the East.

As far as performers go, again it's a tossup. There are movie stars in Hollywood but you can always fly them east if you want them that badly. The East possesses the legitimate theater with that reservoir of talent, plus a huge nightclub and concert field. No, insofar as talent goes, I don't think Hollywood has it over New York that much.

"Big Record" and Perry Como. The real pull to the coast is the facilities, not the talent. But the Westinghouse people can hardly admit it. To go west in search of greater writers and greater actors has a splendid sound; but to go west to find a better place to drive nails and paint scenery doesn't. And yet that's what's happening. At exactly the same time live TV is moving out of New York, large hunks of movie production is moving into it.

In the past five years a new kind of film has been coming to be known as "the Eastern most of them shot right in New York. Movies like "Marty," "The Bachelor Party," "Edge of the City," "Twelve Angry Men" and "Stagestruck" are shot here because they are intelligent, realistic, contemporary, and intimate in the same sense that TV was (and occasionally still is). Pictures like this have a feeling of actuality, of reality, of authenticity.

These qualities are not impossible in Hollywood but they are harder to obtain. Somehow, the bogus, the greasepaint, the phony creeps into the Hollywood stories whether filmed or live. Not always, of course. The most distin-

Years ago, there was talk of building something that resembled a spacious movie lot out on Jersey's broad meadows, a spot where sets could be designed, built and stored and props like stagecoaches and medieval castles kept permanently. Nothing ever came of it.

There was a time when New York ruled the roost in live drama and, in fact, in live everything else. Hollywood was the place that supplied the movies for television. But first the live variety shows began sloping off to Hollywood and then, faster and faster, the dramatic shows. Today it's the big variety shows

A black and white line drawing of a young boy with a large, bushy afro hairstyle. He is wearing a short-sleeved dress over a long-sleeved shirt, knee-high socks, and sneakers. He is running away from a window on the left, with his arms outstretched and a look of surprise or alarm on his face. A small puddle is on the floor behind him. To the left of the window, a small portion of another person's head and shoulder is visible, looking towards the running boy.

Snow Flurries Bring Area Winter's Touch

Garrett County Roads Covered

Yesterday was the first day for Eastern Standard Time but for all appearances it might just as well have been the first day of winter, still about eight weeks away.

Cumberland had its first snow flurry of the season and in some points of the tri-state area there was enough snow to measure.

State Police at LaVale, for instance, reported that Garrett County had about one inch of snow on the roads, just enough to make them slippery and dangerous for driving. However, no serious accidents were reported up to 8 o'clock last night.

Frostburg had a heavy snowfall in mid-afternoon yesterday but didn't stick on the roads. One observer expressed an opinion that had the ground been frozen there might have been an inch or more of snow in the Mountain City.

Not A Record

Although Robert R. Golden, this city's official weather observer, said there wasn't enough snow in Constitution Park to measure, there was 94 inches of precipitation during a day in which the temperatures ranged between a cold low of 33 and a high of 42. At 6 p. m. the official thermometer stood at 35 degrees.

Mr. Golden said that snow in October is an unusual occurrence here but has been reported. A quick check by him showed measurable snow at least three Octobers in the past 40 years. There was 3.5 inches in October 1925, about a half an inch in October 1920 and one inch in 1917. Flurries were last reported during October in 1952.

The prospects for today are not much better. The outlook is for continued cold with a few snow flurries in the mountains. The high today is expected to be between 35 and 40 degrees in the mountains.

Already Wettest Month

With four days remaining in the month, October already has established itself as the wettest month of 1957 in Cumberland. Mr. Golden has measured 5.1 inches of rain this month, twice the normal fall of 2.53 inches.

Excess precipitation these past two months after one of the driest Augusts in years has ended the drought. The ground is slowly becoming moist down to depths where wells which were empty the last two or three months are starting to fill.

With six months of more than normal precipitation in the first ten months this year, the total rainfall for the ten months is 30.64 inches compared with a normal 30 inches.

The monthly figures this year, compared with normal:

Month	1957 Normal
January	2.55 2.49
February	3.23 2.34
March	2.28 3.00
April	4.16 2.88

State Idle Pay Benefits Dip In September

The amount of benefits and the number of checks paid under the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law last month dropped somewhat from August levels but were substantially greater than a year ago.

The drop in unemployment insurance benefits from August to September follows a seasonal trend, but the drop this year was not as large as normal, according to Robert B. Kimble, executive director of the Department of Employment Security.

August unemployment was associated with temporary layoff from cutbacks in defense contracts and adjustments in production schedules as orders lagged.

Mr. Kimble pointed out that while the increase over the previous year definitely reflects a rise in the number of people unemployed, unemployment has not increased to the extent insurance payments would seem to indicate.

"A significant portion of the increase," he explained, "is attributable to 1957 amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Law which have the effect, for many claimants, of increasing the weekly benefit amount while extending the period of eligibility."

The $1,959,528 paid out during September to unemployed persons eligible under the State program dropped 9.1 per cent from August, but was 134 per cent greater than the amount of September of last year. The 66,553 benefit checks paid out in September were down 10.8 per cent from August, but up 96.2 per cent over September, 1956.

Initial claims, representing new spells of unemployment, rose during September to a weekly average of 3,194, up 2.8 per cent over August and 43.7 per cent over September of last year.

The cutback in defense spending was reflected in September with unemployed Federal workers in Maryland receiving 2,280 benefit checks totaling $73,361. As compared with September, 1956, these figures represent a rise of 84.9 per cent in the number of benefit checks and 110.4 per cent in the amount of benefits.

Two Hurt As Car Overturns

Two teenage Pennsylvanians were injured about 2:30 a. m. yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding ran off Pennsylvania Route 26 about three miles north of Everett and overturned.

The driver, Charles William Bottenfield, 18, of RFD 1, Breezewood, Pa., sustained contusions and abrasions of the head and chest and burns of the body. He was treated at Bedford County Memorial Hospital and released.

A passenger, Morley Slovnick, 19, Saxton, Pa., sustained a fractured spine, a possible fractured skull, contusions and abrasions of the head and shoulder injuries. He was reported in "fair" condition last night at the Bedford County Memorial Hospital.

Pennsylvania State Police said the accident is still under investigation and no charges have been preferred.

Toy Distribution Planned By Associated Charities

There will be nice toys in the Christmas stockings of even the poorest children of this area this year if plans of the Association Charities materialize.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said that CUF agency has been collecting toys since Christmas and plans to intensify toy collection and repairs during November and December.

For months, the Associated Charities has been asking people who apply for aid to repair and paint toys in their homes.

The reconditioned toys, she said, are being stored for Christmas giving.

A toy workshop will be set up next month, she said, if enough toys are donated.

A number of local organizations have for years been making, or collecting and repairing toys and then turning them over to the Associated Charities for distribution.

A number of dolls which have been given to the agency, Miss Bonig reported, have been turned over to women for repairs and new outfits.

If this Christmas is a typical one, there will be thousands of toys on hand for Christmas distribution.

Although its budget includes no funds for special Thanksgiving and Christmas food baskets, the agency will also distribute hundreds of baskets of food before both holidays.

The baskets are filled with food donated by various local organizations, augmented by purchases from funds donated by other organizations which ask the agency to administer their holiday gifts.

The advisors will welcome back all past members and invite boys in the Corriganville area to join the club and to be present at the meeting tomorrow night.

Esso Benefits Area Colleges

Fifteen privately-supported colleges and universities in Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia are included among 345 which have received financial grants totaling $1,332,760 from the Esso Education Foundation for the 1957-58 academic year.

This brings the total grants made by the foundation in its three-year existence to over $3,600,000.

The foundation was established in 1955 by Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) and a group of domestic affiliates to assist privately supported colleges and universities in the United States.

Colleges and universities which are receiving unrestricted grants include College of Notre Dame of Maryland, Hood College, Johns Hopkins University, Mount St. Mary's College, St. John's College, Washington College and Western Maryland College, all of Maryland; America University, Catholic University of America, George Washington University and Georgetown University, all of the District of Columbia; and Bethany College, Davis and Elkins College and West Virginia Wesleyan College, all of West Virginia.

VA Increases Compensation For Disabled

More than 26,000 disabled veterans in Maryland will receive higher compensation checks beginning with the checks which will be mailed at the end of this month.

R. T. Brown, acting manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Baltimore, pointed out that these increases under Public Law 85-168 only apply to compensation paid to living veterans for disabilities which were incurred in or were aggravated by service.

Payments made to dependents of deceased veterans are not increased, nor are pensions paid to living veterans for total and permanent disability not caused by service.

Mr. Brown said that veterans already on the VA compensation rolls need take no action to get this increase as it will be paid automatically.

The increase will be approximately 10 per cent of the old rates except that veterans receiving 100 per cent disability compensation will receive a special increase of 24.3 per cent.

The special allowances for dependents paid living veterans when their service connected disabilities are rated at 50 per cent or more are also increased under this law by approximately 10 per cent.

Mr. Brown said, however, that the statutory rates for the loss or use of certain parts of the body or for arrested tuberculosis have not been increased by Public Law 85-168.

Scouts Want To Boat Down C & O Canal

History Supplied By Local Chamber

Inquires received by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce indicate that the historic Chesapeake and Ohio Canal may become one of the prime tourist attractions of the Cumberland area.

The Lynchburg, Va., Chamber of Commerce last month informed the C & O here that Boy Scout leaders of that city were interested in taking a group of scouts down the C & O Canal from Cumberland to Washington next spring.

The Lynchburg party planned to use small boats to make the 168 mile trip from the Queen City to Great Falls.

The Chamber was asked to furnish any information about the canal which would be helpful, along with maps of the great waterway.

Supplies History

Chamber officials did not throw cold water upon the plans for the boat expedition, but pointed out that the Spring 1954 issue of "The Living Wilderness" would reveal some of the hardships and difficulties to be expected by a party attempting to traverse the canal.

The magazine devoted the entire issue to a description of the hike led by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas along the canal towpath from here to Washington.

The group was also advised to contact Conrad L. Wirth, director of the National Park Service, for maps and information on the canal.

The Chamber enclosed a brief history of the canal and a reprint of a Cumberland newspaper printed at the time of the Industrial Exposition here.

It was a rugged trip for the Douglas party which walked the towpath of the canal and would probably be an intolerable trip by canoe, as much of the old waterway is dry, and the only easy canoe trip would be the 10-mile stretch on the restored Georgetown Division of the canal.

In issuing the challenge which led to the canal hike, Justice Douglas pointed out that in the early 1920s, Justice D. Brandeis traveled the canal and the Potomac River by canoe to Cumberland.

May Visit Here

A recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post featured the C & O Canal as part of its "The Face of America" series. The feature showed a mule-drawn boat gliding along the restored section.

One of the results of the G. Washington's Waterway feature was an inquiry from a Shelburne Falls, Mass., woman asking information about Cumberland and its historic sites.

The official of the Blue Moon antiques firm there said she was intrigued by the picture and asked for information on the historic sites of the Cumberland-area as a possibility for an early spring visit.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has thrown its full weight behind plans to establish the Chesapeake and Ohio National Historical Park, which would include a scenic highway overlooking the canal from Route 51 near Paw Paw to near Woodmont.

Lady Judge Will Seek Senate Seat

BALTIMORE, Oct. 27 (AP) — The bonnet of a lady judge was in the ring today for Maryland's 1958 Democratic senatorial nomination.

Judge Nellie Marie Marshall of Baltimore Orphans Court announced last night she will file for the party's nomination to the seat now held by Republican J. Glenn Beall.

Judge Marshall in 1954 became the first woman ever to survive a city-wide primary when she was nominated for the Orphans Court. She ran unsuccessfully for the Baltimore Supreme Bench last year, polling 94,822 votes in the general election.

"I believe I can add strength to the tottering Democratic organization in Maryland," she said in her announcement for the Senate race.

"... I feel that my candidacy will present a real challenge to the party leaders who have frequently expressed their desire to have a qualified woman file for public office."
